

THE CONFEDERACY OF MAINLAND MI'KMAQ

Project Profile by  Office
INTERIORS

The Confederacy of Mainland Mi'kmaq (CMM), representing eight Mi'kmaw communities in Nova Scotia, made a huge move by constructing a new building for their growing non-profit. A space big enough to accommodate over 100 employees in Millbrook. Office Interiors stepped in to provide workstations and ancillary furniture, and we are proud to be part of this journey.

We provided about 120 workstations for this project and furnished various collaboration spaces. The best part is - we didn't do it alone. We teamed up with our sister company, Cabco Communications, to bring this building to life.

Cabco outfitted the building with architectural interiors like sound-masking, communications and technology tools like Wi-Fi, signal boosters, voice conferencing, room booking systems, microphones and digital displays for the executive boardroom and over 160 cloud phone systems.

Together, we created a space that blends modern work areas with the latest technology.

As the initial point of contact for visitors entering the building, the lobby's waiting area is furnished to provide a warm and comfortable experience. Two Poppy chairs by Haworth, designed for optimal comfort, are paired with a Jive table. This arrangement ensures visitors can relax and feel at ease while waiting to be attended to.

Continuing the theme of comfort and style, the Poppy chairs are used in the private offices as guest chairs. The choice of colour on the seating seamlessly complements the existing furniture in this space.

You can't miss the array of collaboration spaces as you navigate the CMM building. Each space is furnished to suit different collaboration styles, whether it's a laid-back discussion, a focused work session, or a formal meeting.

The luxurious Lyda sectional sofa and occasional table set shine in this laid-back executive collaborative and lounge area. The sofa is upholstered in soft white leather, and the table has a mixed wood and leather finish. This makes a flexible space for people to discuss, attend gatherings, and host guests.

This collaborative space is a hub for diverse meetings, featuring Haworth Poppy chairs in blue fabric paired with round Jive tables.

Maari bar-height stools and matching PopUp bar-height tables by Haworth add versatility to the room, providing elevation to accommodate different seating heights.

The CMM boardroom exudes elegance and comfort. This formal space features the highly ergonomic Fern executive chairs in leather and with headrests by Haworth. The Fern is the world's first chair designed with edgeless comfort. At the centre of the chairs is the Immerse conference room table. This table adds easy built-in storage to the space and also comes with integrated power to allow close-range access to power for people to plug in their laptops and devices.

The open office features Compose Workstations by Haworth. The panels are sized to provide seated privacy but still make communicating with coworkers easy. Each workstation is fitted with storage, providing occupants with dedicated space for their belongings. With over 120 of these workstations installed across three floors of the CMM building, they allow every team member to work comfortably and productively.

The quiet room offers a space for focused work when the open office gets too loud. The first room is a spot for work and private calls, and it features a Maari stool and the PopUp table by Haworth. In the second room, the To-Do chair with tablet by Haworth sets a relaxed vibe for people to work.

Unlike the serene, quiet room, the kitchen area is a social hub for people to enjoy their meals, whether alone or in groups. The space is furnished with Jive tables and Maari chairs. The chair's material is plastic, making them easily cleanable when spills happen.
